Welcome to the Autumn Edition of the Parish Review. Information is included about what's going on in the parish during this period between September 1st to the end of November.

The Review is available in full colour on line at the Parish Council Website.

LAUNCH OF THE ILLOGAN PARISH PLAN

Thanks to Stephen Turner, Project Facilitator for the following information:

The Illogan Parish Plan, the document that you helped create which sets out the hopes, desires and aspirations of the people of Illogan Parish, was published at a public event held at Illogan Village Hall on 23rd July.

The Parish Plan provides vital information for all decision making bodies and will enable them to make considered decisions, which will be ones that will be broadly supported by residents. Our Parish Plan will remain as a 'living document' and will be periodically updated to ensure that it continues to reflect residents' views.

Copies were formally presented to George Eustace MP, Cllr Terry Wilkins MBE on behalf of Cornwall Council and Cllr. David Ekinsmyth, who accepted it on behalf of Illogan Parish Council.

The Illogan Parish Council now becomes the custodian of the document and undertakes to ensure it becomes a reference document when considering improvements and new Parish facilities .

George Eustace MP emphasised the importance of our Plan and praised the Parish Plan Steering Group for producing such an excellent document. He said that we should be proud of what we, in Illogan, have achieved and that, in the future, every Parish Council will need one. In this aspect Illogan Parish is ahead of the game thanks to the foresight and hard work put into its production .

Cllr. Ekinsmyth also reflected on the hard work that has gone into producing the Plan and paid tribute to all those who were involved in its production. He also stated that "in many respects the hard work is still to come; to make our Plan a reality" and it is this challenge that he will taking back to the Parish Council.

Cllr Wilkins echoed these sentiments and undertook to ensure that Cornwall Council will consult with our Plan when considering any issues which will affect Illogan Parish.

A Parish Plan will be delivered to all Illogan Parish households at the earliest opportunity.

The next issue of the Review will be available on 1st December 2011.

Potential entries for inclusion are to be with the Editor by the 10th November

The prosaically named High Cliff, between Boscastle and St Glennys is the highest sheer cliff drop in Cornwall at 223 metres (732 feet)

If the economy is slowing down, how come it's so hard for me to keep up with it?

Cornwall Councillor Terry Wilkins MBE

By now, you will all have noticed the new white street lights which have been installed in Illogan two months ahead of schedule by Cornwall Council. The new white light is energy efficient and, is saving the County thousands of pounds on it's power bill. Apart from that, we don't have the awful orange glow in the sky so, the budding astronomers amongst us can see the stars. Communities can also request a dimming of the lights after a specified time or, turned off altogether. Something to think about. We now have a conclusion to the Concessionary bus fares debate. I have been firmly against any removal of bus passes or cuts to the services for our senior citizens. I am happy to report that the Council has had a rethink with regard to its budget to Bus Companies and the status-quo will remain until April next year..

One of the members of the village, Kitty Rowe asked me about the garden waste sacks and if I could look into the cost and the size etc. Well, after waging war on the relevant Council Official, it looks like we might get a re-useable garden waste bag for which we will pay a nominal annual fee. This will be part of the new tender going out to Contractors for them to bid on.

Now on to my favourite subject (not), dog poo. I have had discussions with the Council Highways department with regard to putting up additional dog bins and replacement one's that have gone missing or just rotted away. Unfortunately, the department has not got the budget to buy any new one's at the moment but, the Parish Council has the funds to purchase some. At the next Parish meeting, we will be arranging for Parish Councillors to note where the existing bins are and where we would like some sited. This hopefully, will stop some of the offenders littering our streets.

And lastly, 2013 will see the local elections for Parish Councillors. If you would like to consider standing as a member for your area and, get involved in helping to make Illogan a better place, then get in contact with me for info.

Parish Council Chairman David Ekinsmyth

August is supposed to be the quiet month on the Council but as usual this year it is going to be far from that.

Although there are no major events planned as everybody deserves a break, the normal business must continue, bills get paid, planning applications dealt with and any other matters that become urgent.

Most of this work would normally fall to the Parish Clerk who is the main employee of the council with the legal responsibility of carrying out its business.

Councillors are the elected custodians who determine what the council should be concentrating on or achieving, based on the feedback obtained from their electors.

Unfortunately I have learnt as I write this that the clerk is unwell and unlikely to return to work for 6 months. This is very sad for her and we all wish her well and a swift and permanent recovery.

As Chairman I now have the responsibility of putting the necessary arrangements in place to ensure the business is carried on as effectively as possible.

I do this with the support of councillors and other advisors and that is the task I am now engaged in.

I therefore apologise for the relative brevity of the report in this Edition. In the next Review I will be able to inform readers of the actions taken.

In the meantime I ask you please to direct all urgent business to me either on Email or using my mobile line, so as not to inundate my poor wife with business calls on our home landline.

Please do not contact Sue Ballinger in her role as the Parish Council Clerk until she formally returns to work.

Thank you for your patience and the support I know we will get from you all.

On a broader front in the last month we have successfully launched the Parish Plan, and the Green Ripple project, and set up the necessary arrangements for the building of the new parish office as an extension to the Parish Hall.

So lots of good news and some bad, but that life!!

David Ekinsmyth
Chairman Illogan Parish Council

When there is nothing to say, state the obvious!!

A well known former politician is noted for making the following statement :

"A low voter turnout is an indication of fewer people going to the polls"

Logic is a systematic method of coming to the wrong conclusion with confidence

Guy Fawkes (13 April 1570 – 31 January 1606), was also known as Guido Fawkes, the name he adopted while fighting for the Spanish in the Low Countries. He belonged to a group of provincial English Catholics who planned the failed Gunpowder Plot of 1605 which was a plan to assassinate King James I.

Fawkes was born and educated in York. His father died when Fawkes was eight years old, after which his mother married a Catholic. Fawkes later converted to Catholicism and left for the continent, where he fought in the Eighty Years' War on the side of Catholic Spain against Protestant Dutch reformers. He travelled to Spain to seek support for a Catholic rebellion in England but it was not successful. He later met Thomas Wintour, with whom he returned to England.

Wintour introduced Fawkes to Robert Catesby, who planned to assassinate King James I and restore a Catholic monarch to the throne. The plotters secured the lease to an undercroft beneath the House of Lords, and Fawkes was placed in charge of the gunpowder they stockpiled there. Prompted by the receipt of an anonymous letter, the authorities searched Westminster Palace during the early hours of 5 November, and found Fawkes guarding the explosives. Over the next few days, he was questioned and tortured, and eventually he broke. Immediately before his execution on 31 January, Fawkes jumped from the scaffold where he was to be hanged and broke his neck, so avoiding the agony of the drawing and quartering due to follow.

Fawkes became synonymous with the Gunpowder Plot, which has been commemorated in England since 5 November 1605. His effigy is burned on a bonfire, often accompanied by a firework display.

On 5 November 1605 Londoners were encouraged to celebrate the King's escape from assassination by lighting bonfires, "always provided that 'this testimony of joy' be careful done without any danger or disorder". An Act of Parliament designated each 5 November as a day of thanks - giving for "the joyful day of deliverance", and remained in force until 1859. Although he was only one of 13 conspirators, Fawkes is today the individual most associated with the failed Plot.

In Britain, 5 November has variously been called Guy Fawkes Night, Guy Fawkes Day and Bonfire Night; the latter can be traced directly back to the original celebration of 5 November 1605. Bonfires were accompanied by fireworks from the 1650s onwards, and it became the custom to burn an effigy (usually the Pope) after 1673, when the heir presumptive, James, Duke of York made his conversion to Catholicism public.

Effigies of other notable figures who have become targets for the public's ire, such as Paul Kruger and Margaret Thatcher, have also found their way onto the bonfires, although most modern effigies are of Fawkes. The "guy" is normally created by children, from old clothes, newspapers, and a mask. During the 19th century, "guy" came to mean an oddly dressed person, but in American English it now relates to a lone male or a mixed sex group.

It is said that Guy Fawkes has been referred to as "the only man ever to enter Parliament with honest intentions"

Bonfire toffee, also known as treacle toffee, cinder toffee, Plot toffee, Tom Trot, claggum, clack or loshin du, is a hard, brittle toffee associated with Halloween and Guy Fawkes Night

Although bonfire toffee emerged in the 1660s, the word 'toffee' didn't enter the English language until 1825.

ILLOGAN ALLOTMENT ASSOCIATION

The next meeting of the Association will be in October. The Secretary will inform members when known, where and when.

A new venue will have to be found since the Parish Rooms at the church are closed due to the repairing of the church roof. It may also have to be on a night other than a Monday depending on what is available.

If members could email the Secretary as detailed below as to what evenings they are available to meet on so that I can try and accommodate as many members as possible.

Anyone wanting further information about the group please contact the secretary: Mrs J. Opie, at 3 Colborne Avenue,

Illogan. TR16 4EB, or on 01209 842622, or email

t.opie64@btinternet.com

If you have an interest on 'growing your own' here is a tip from the Secretary which has proved successful

Although maybe a little late for this growing season, the following idea could be started now ready for next year even with only a 'postage stamp' space in a garden.

Start to fill a garden compost bin with kitchen vegetable scraps e.g. potato peelings, banana skins, fruit peelings and cores, grass cuttings etc. and allow to rot down over the winter.

Next year when full (If necessary add a 'GRO-bag to top up) plant it with 1 courgette plant. Keep well watered and when the courgettes start to appear feed with some diluted tomato feed. If necessary, put in a large cane to support the plant.

So far this year the Secretary has harvested 8¾ pounds of six-inch long courgettes and there are still lots more to come. It really is worth doing since they taste lovely when fresh and you don't need a large garden to grow them.

Another advantage of this method is there is no bending required tending or harvesting the crop.

By Editor: If there are any landowners within the Parish who could fulfil the land requirement of a few acres for allotments, the Parish Council are keen to lease the land on a long term basis.

Please contact the Vice Chairman, Councillor Terry Wilkins, whose contact details are on the back page, to discuss the details.

Breath of Fresh Air Walks take place on Wednesday mornings each week leaving the Wellbeing at 10am. Generally, a circular walks, around Illogan and surrounding area. The walks are becoming ever more popular with it not being uncommon for a group of a dozen setting out, led by a qualified walk leader. Walks cover Illogan & Portreath Woods, Tehidy Woods or down to Watergate. Nothing too strenuous, just a gentle amble with plenty of opportunities to take in the views.

Typical walks are:

Spar Lane. A level 1 walk (generally flat and along metalled roads and pavements) and lasts about an hour. This walk takes in Parsonage Well, Marys Well, Spar Lane and Maningham.

Watergate. A level 2 walk (generally a mix of flat and gradients on metalled roads and public footpaths) and lasts about an hour. This walk takes in Watergate and Ventonraze and there are a few public footpath variations which may be considered by the walking group and add in the region of 20 minutes or so to the circular walk.

Tehidy Orchard. A level 3 walk (generally a mix of flat and gradients on metalled roads and public footpaths) and lasts about 2 hours and as the name implies it takes in a walk to, and around, Tehidy Woods.

Other walks such as Feadon woods, Illogan Woods and Bridge are also regularly scheduled in and each case may carry some variation to the base route dependant on the group and the weather conditions at the time of the walk.

Extract from a National Newspaper: "Army vehicle worth £500,000 is lost after being painted with camouflage paint."

Land's End to John o' Groats - Off road walkers typically walk 1,200 miles (1,900 km) and take two or three months

By Editor. I must declare an interest in that I am a registered walk leader at the Wellbeing and regularly take part in the walks. That said I recommend these walks as a means of stretching your legs, getting some fresh air and having a natter at the same time. Open to all age ranges, come and join us and you just might find that you enjoy the time spent on the walk.

Most of us will have heard the emotive 'Jerusalem' a long time favourite on 'Last Night Of The Proms' and sung in many, but not all, churches due to the fact that, technically, it is not a hymn - Such has been its impact, there is enough information about it on the internet for a book. I have included here a few extracts which may be of interest.

"And did those feet in ancient time" is a short poem by William Blake from the preface to his epic Milton a poem, one of a collection of writings known as the Prophetic Books. The date on the title page of 1804 for Milton is probably when the plates were begun but the poem wasn't printed until 1808.

Today it is best known as the anthem "Jerusalem", with music written by Sir Hubert Parry in 1916.

Parry's executors re-assigned the copyright in 1928 to the Women's Institutes, where it remained until it entered the public domain in 1968.

The poem was inspired by the apocryphal story that a young Jesus, accompanied by his uncle Joseph of Arimathea, travelled to the area that is now England and visited Glastonbury at the time England would have been in the hands of the Romano-British, Glastonbury itself however would have been governed by the Durotriges

The legend is linked to an idea in the Book of Revelation (3:12 and 21:2) describing a Second Coming, wherein Jesus establishes a new Jerusalem. The Christian church in general, and the English Church in particular, used Jerusalem as a metaphor for Heaven, a place of universal love and peace.

In the most common interpretation of the poem, Blake implies that a visit of Jesus would briefly create heaven in England, in contrast to the "dark Satanic Mills" (The Albion Flour Mills) of the Industrial Revolution. Analysts note that Blake asks four questions rather than stating a visit to be true. According to this view, the poem says that there may, or may not, have been a divine visit, when there was briefly heaven in England.

In the 1500's, A Bath consisted of a large tub filled with hot water. The man of the house was first in the clean water; followed by his sons, then came the women followed by children. Last came the babies. By then the water was so dirty you could actually lose someone in it, hence the origin of the saying, "Don't throw the baby out with the bath water."

Also, some 300 million people are former Scouts, including prominent people in every field. This is impressive considering that Scouting began with 20 boys and an experimental camp in 1907. It was held during the first nine days of August in 1907 at Brownsea Island, near Poole in Dorset, England.

Scam Alert From Neighbourhood Watch

Reports have been received of 'cold callers' carrying out garden work with final bills being far higher than the original estimates. Activity reports have, recently, have been reported from the Camborne areas. We strongly advise that residents do not accept offers of work from cold callers, but instead ask friends or relatives to recommend reputable local traders. The risks of employing 'cold call' tradesmen are shoddy workmanship, very high charges which change as the work progresses, and unnecessary additional work coupled with intimidation. The rogue traders typically target people who are less able to check the quality of the work, or people they think could be intimidated into parting with large sums of money, and who they believe won't complain. They can be quite charming in their attempts to get you to agree to the work, but can be threatening when the time comes to pay. It is much safer to use reputable local tradesmen, who will often offer a written quote and a guarantee. Our advice is to say, 'No thank you' and close the door on 'cold callers.' Should you suspect rogue traders to be circulating in your area, please do not confront them, but if possible take their vehicle numbers, pass this on to your local neighbourhood watch co-ordinator and the police on 08452 777 444

If you have vulnerable neighbours who could potentially be at risk, please keep a wary eye on their behalf

The Bronze Wolf for outstanding service is the only award made by the World Scout Committee

The UK's first Neighbourhood Watch was set up in Mollington in Cheshire in 1982 following the success of a similar scheme in Chicago in the United States. Many more schemes followed throughout the UK, and 10 million people now claim to be members Beetle wearing Cornish colours found in community woodland!

The Friends of Maningham Wood took the Cornwall in Bloom judge on a walk around our award-winning woodland last week and spotted this wonderful longhorn beetle (Strangalia maculate). It is a large woodworm type of beetle so may well have come from the hollow stump of an oak tree located in the centre of the woodland.

The group have entered the Cornwall in Bloom competition as they are planning a new Nature Trail through the village. It is hoped that the both locals and visitors will learn more about the wildlife living around them by following this trail through the wood and nearby living churchyard using leaflets which will be made available in local shops and community centres.

Look out for both this patriotic beetle and the new nature trail in the next few months and, if you would like to join the group, please come along to one of our monthly meetings.

The group meets at 7pm on the first Thursday of each month in the Robartes Arms pub. Hope to see you there!

Thanks for the pictures supplied by the FoMW & taken by Treve Opie

They can be seen in colour on the parish website version of the Review

A few simple facts about the beetle

General Size. 14-20mm.

Distribution. All of Europe except the far north.

Habitat. Hedgerows, woodland margins and clearings.

Most frequently seen. June-August.

Although there are variations of the pattern in the species, the more common has distinct black spots.

The one photographed by Treve with the spots fused into bands all over the entire body length is one of the less common.

The Acorn seat in Maningham Woods is one of the many 'sculptures' dotted around the footpaths designed by a local artist.

The woodland has disabled access at the main entrance at the Platt with access via a RADAR key operated gate. All the major paths are wheelchair-friendly throughout.

Exiting from the far end of the wood is a path connecting the woodland to the churchyard so wheelchair users can leave from a different exit rather than having to complete a circular route back to the main entrance.

The site is leased by the Parish Council for about the next 90 years or so. Therefore the future of the woods as a community facility is secure.

As long as the community values the site, it is hoped that they will continue to take care of it, with the help of the volunteers.

Coleoptera is an order of insects collectively called beetles.
They contain about 1,000,000 species which is more than any other order, constituting almost 25% of all known life-forms*

Please contact directly as above for details of events

The Royal British Legion was formed on 15 May 1921 bringing together four National Organisations of ex-Service men that had established themselves after the Great War of 1914-1918.

The main purpose of the Legion was straightforward: To care for those who had suffered as a result of service in the Armed Forces in the Great War and to also provide support to their families.

The first ever appeal was the Poppy Day on 11th November 1921 and continues as a major fund raising event to enable help to be provided to our ex-servicemen and their families.

Your support leading up to 'Poppy Day' will, as ever, always be welcome.

Additionally, the local branch of the RBL, with other organisations, will march through Illogan from the Football club to the Cemetery (and return) on Sunday 13th November. Due to Church repairs, the parade will get as close to the Cenotaph as possible. The parade will form at the football club and set off at 2.30pm

The rules of football were formed in England by the Football Association in 1863 and the name association football was coined to distinguish the game from the other forms of football played at the time, specifically rugby football. The term soccer also originated in England, first appearing in the 1880s

Did you know: The Cornish name for Illogan is Egloshal

PARK BOTTOM - Please excuse the quality of the left hand picture. It's a scan of a photograph of a 1904 postcard and shows the main 5 ways junction at Park Bottom taken from the bottom of Trevelyan Road.

The hill leading away to the background is the old road to Pool, now a cul-de-sac because of the A30 dual carriageway. Off to the left is Clifton Road, to the right Park Road heads off to Trevenon Moor and the nearer right hand angled junction leads to Illogan Downs, Tehidy and Portreath.

The junction itself has changed over the years, It's got wider and busier, has pavements, & street lights. However, there is still a shop on the corner (Now a hairdressing salon) and the New Inn is still open. The donkey and shay outside the pub can just be made out, waiting, no doubt, for its owner to return, reputed to be a Ms Maggie Evans.

By editor: The photograph is courtesy of Mrs Marina Kempthorne of Redruth. Many thanks

This is the junction as it is today

Most of us will know this but for the benefit if newcomers to the area:

There are four 'official' council noticeboards In the Parish: There is one at the gated entrance to Maningham Wood at the Platt in Illogan, One outside the Premier Store at Park Bottom, Another outside the Adelaide Store in Tolvaddon and the final one is the door at Penwartha Hall in Illogan

Recreational areas in the parish are: Rosemullion Gardens with a host of children's play equipment at Tolvaddon, the park and play area near the main junction at Park Bottom, the large area open park off Trevelyan Road in Illogan, Maningham Woods at the main junction (The Platt) in Illogan, and of course at Tehidy there is the Woods with its range of woodland walks, lake and nearby café.

Recreational halls in the Parish are: The Village Hall and the adjacent Wellbeing Centre in the Churchtown area of Illogan, Penwartha Hall in Illogan, The Harris Mill Hall at the bottom of Bassetts Road and the Snooker hall in Park Bottom (Members only)

There are two doctors surgeries in Illogan Parish:

1. The Harris Memorial Surgery, Robartes Terrace, Illogan, TR16 4RX Phone: 01209 842449
2. The Homecroft surgery. Voguebeloth, Illogan, TR16 4ET Phone: 01209 843843

By Editor: I've been asked about what's going on at Trevenon Moor. Basically it's a new road going in between the Tolvaddon Business 'Park' and the A30 flyover area. I understand that there are also plans for more Business modular units to go into this area at a later date

DON'T FORGET MOONDYNE JOE

Winston Churchill quote: "I like pigs. Dogs look up to us.
Cats look down on us. Pigs treat us as equals."

Illogan 'famous Sons', extend to The Bassets, Holman, Trevithick and Tangye. Spare a thought for 'Moondyne Joe'. Different social graces to the more prominent and little is known of early life of Joseph Johns's. Born in Cornwall around 1826. He was one of six children of Welsh blacksmith Thomas Johns and his wife Mary. It is likely that he contracted smallpox in his youth, as later records describe him as pockmarked. Joe Johns worked as a copper miner in 1841. The family lived in Illogan.

Joseph Bolitho Johns, became better known as Moondyne Joe, as he went on to become Western Australia's best known bushranger. However, prior to that, in November 1848, Joe and an associate named John Williams were arrested near Chepstow for stealing three loaves of bread, one piece of bacon, several cheeses, and other assorted foodstuff goods.

Arraigned at the Brecon Assizes on charges of burglary and stealing, the pair pleaded not guilty. On 23 March they were tried at the Lent Assizes before Sir William Erle. Newspaper reports of the trial suggest that the pair gave an unexpectedly spirited defence, but Joe was abrasive and "contravened the conventions of court procedure". The men were convicted and sentenced to ten years' penal servitude.

Joe was transferred around several prisons over the years before being transported to the then British Penal Colony of Western Australia in February 1853.

He initially lived rough in one of the most inaccessible and rugged places in the Darling Mountain Range. The Aboriginal name for the area was Moondyne. Joe made a living by partly fencing the springs in the area, and trapping escaped stock and horses. Often a reward was offered for the return of such animals

Over the years he was found guilty of a range of offences from horse stealing to petty theft and was jailed accordingly. However, he was a serial escapee and went on the run on several occasions, living rough, but was recaptured each time. He adopted the name Moondyne Joe during one of his escape periods in 1865

Extraordinary measures were taken to ensure that Joe did not escape again.

He was transferred to Fremantle Prison where a special "escape proof" cell was made for him built from stone, lined with jarrah sleepers and over 1000 nails.

He was set to work breaking stone, but rather than permit him to leave the prison, the stone was brought in and dumped in a corner of the prison yard, where Joe worked under the constant supervision of a warder.

Governor John Hampton was so confident of the arrangements, he was heard to say to Joe: "If you get out again, I'll forgive you". However, the rock broken by Joe was not removed regularly, and eventually a pile grew up until it obscured the guard's view of Joe below the waist.

Partially hidden behind the pile of rocks, he occasionally swung his sledgehammer at the limestone wall of the prison. On 7 March 1867, Moondyne Joe escaped through a hole he had made in the prison wall.

He was recaptured and finally released in April 1871 and the remainder of Joe's life consisted of periods of good behaviour punctuated by minor misdemeanours and brief jail terms. In January 1879, he married a widow named Louisa Hearn, and they spent some time prospecting for gold near Southern Cross. In 1881, while exploring the countryside around Karridale, he discovered a cave which was named Moondyne Cave after him.

In his later years, he began acting strangely, and was eventually found to be mentally ill. He died of senile dementia in the Fremantle Lunatic Asylum (now the Fremantle Arts Centre building) on 13 August 1900, and was buried in Fremantle Cemetery.

On the first Sunday of May, the township of Toodyay celebrates the life and times of Moondyne Joe by holding the Moondyne Festival.

This festival takes place in the main street and has street theatre, market stalls, themed back to the early years. The most recent Moondyne Festival was on 1 May 2011.

Conversation recently at Melbourne Airport arrivals. An incoming GB passenger was asked by an Australian Immigration Officer "Any criminal offences?" The man replied "Err No, I didn't realise it was still mandatory" Needless to say the visitor spent some considerable time clearing though immigration as officials didn't share the same sense of humour !

Bushrangers originally referred to runaway convicts in the early years of the British settlement of Australia who had the survival skills necessary to use the Australian bush as a refuge to hide from the authorities. The term "bushranger" then evolved to refer to those who abandoned social rights and privileges to take up "robbery under arms" as a way of life, using the bush as their base.
