TO RECEIVE A REPORT FROM THE CLERK INCLUDING HEALTH AND SAFETY, AGREE FUTURE ACTIONS AND ANY ASSOCIATED EXPENDITURE

The Clerk reported that she had returned from Sick Leave but was on a phased return and was currently working mornings only.

FC18/05/26

TO RECEIVE AN UPDATE ON THE GLEBE FIELD AND AGREE ANY FUTURE ACTIONS

Cllr Ekinsmyth reported that he had consulted with Phil Mason as requested at the last meeting. He read an email he had received from Cornwall Council Economic Growth and Development; please see below:

I draw your attention to paragraph 39 of the appeal decision in which the Inspector states:

"I have given thorough consideration to the petition against the development and to the concerns raised by many nearby residents, including the potential effects of the proposal regarding traffic generation and safety, design, parking provision, flooding, ecological impact and trees, contamination, local infrastructure capacity, crime, safety and anti-social behaviour. I have also noted those points made to the effect that the land should be used in preference for other purposes including in association with the adjacent cemetery, regarding recent development permitted elsewhere in the wider area, in relation to the affordability of homes for those in the local community, and regarding the extent of consultation conducted on and motivation behind the proposal."

The inspector therefore considered the issues of contamination in reaching his decision.

I also refer to paragraph 46 which states:

"I have taken account of the submissions before me in respect of the potential presence of buried animal carcasses within the appeal site, which may have been infected with anthrax. There is no definitive evidence before me to substantiate that such carcasses are present, however equally there is no definitive information to indicate that none are present. Whilst the risks associated with carcass exhumation are generally low, on this basis it is nevertheless in my view necessary to impose a condition setting out the process that must be followed in the event that any livestock carcasses are discovered during building operations.: The inspector imposed condition (8) to address this issue on the appeal decision.

In respect of preventing this development the only course of action would have been to challenge the decision in the High Court. Those challenging a decision have to be able to show that a serious mistake was made when reaching the decision; or, for example, in this case the site visit was not handled correctly or procedures were not carried out properly. If a mistake has been made the courts may decide not to quash the decision in the interests of the person making the challenge have not been prejudiced. A decision cannot be challenged merely because someone does not agree with the Secretary of State's decision.

Please note that an application to the High Court must be lodged within 6 weeks of the date of the decision letter which is dated 14 November 2016. In the circumstance as far as planning legislation is concerned there is no mechanism available at this stage to challenge the decision or revoke the outline planning permission.

It is noted that the Environmental Health Planning Liaison Officer stated that "The proposed development appears unlikely to have significant contaminated land issues."

I have forwarded the email received from a member of the public to the officers in Environmental Protection who have made the following comments:

Your Environmental Solutions (YES) have carried out a full and detailed Contaminated Land Phase 1 investigation which covers the complete application site, ref YES 253a dated Jan 2013. The YES report includes evidence provided by the Groundsure report (Appendix B of the YES phase

1) and mining investigation (Appendix C), as well as site walk over and other information (as detailed in said report).

The objective of the submitted CgMs Consulting Ltd, Geographical Survey Report dated December 2015 is with regards to identification of possible acarological features so that they may be assessed prior to development.

It should be noted that Groundsure reports are only one source of information which the consultant then reviews within the phase 1 (the conclusion of a phase 1 investigation is based on numerous sources of information and site walk over). The Groundsure report is designed to give a risk with regards to whether the site is or will be determined under Section 78(A)2 of part 2A of The Environmental Protection Act 1990. Determination is based on current land use and where a significant pollution pathway had been proven.

Land contamination through the planning process considers the proposed use of the land. In order to demonstrate that any scheme is safe and viable the applicant needs to provide sufficient information: in this case the applicant has provided a competent Phase 1 contaminated land investigation which concludes that the site is low risk. Environmental Protection still agrees with this position.

It was suggested that the information on Cornwall Council website regarding the geophysical report was not the same as that held by the Public. Cllr Szoka suggested that a letter is written to support the Public's concerns however, it was agreed that there is little that can be done until the planning application is made.

A member of the public agreed to distribute copies of the geophysical report to Councillors for their information. This will help in the preparation of the response to the planning application once it had been made.
