Background to the Health and Safety Policy

Illogan Parish Council has a legal responsibility to ensure the safety of its employees and others. The Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 imposes duties on employers, the self-employed and employees to protect health and safety.

The General Duty of Employers

The duty is set out in clear language in section 2 of the Health and Safety at Work 1974 which states:

1. It shall be the duty of every employer to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health, safety and welfare at work of all employees.
2. Without prejudice to the generality of an employer's duty under the preceding subsection, the matters to which that duty extends include in particular:
 - The provision and maintenance of plant and systems of work that are, so far as is reasonably practicable, safe and without risks to health;
 - Arrangements for ensuring, so far as is reasonable practicable, safety and absence of risks to health in connection with the use, handling, storage and transport of articles and substances;
 - The provision of such information, instruction, training and supervision as is necessary to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health and safety at work of employees;
 - So far as is reasonably practicably as regards any place of work under the employer's control, the maintenance of it in a condition that is safe and without risks to health and the provision and maintenance of means of access to and egress from it that are safe and without such risks;
 - The provision and maintenance of a working environment for employees that is, so far as is reasonably practicable, safe, without risks to health, and adequate as regards facilities and arrangements for their welfare at work.

Section 2(3) of the Act is in the following terms:

“Except in such cases as may be prescribed, it shall be the duty of every employer to prepare and as often as may be appropriate revise a written statement of his general policy with respect to the health and safety at work of employees and the organisations and arrangements for the time being in force for carrying out that policy, and to bring the statement and any revision of it to the notice of all employees.”

Duties to Non-Employees (including contractors)

Sections 3(1) and 3(3) of the Act states as follows:

“It shall be the duty of every employer to conduct his undertaking in such a way as to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that persons not in his employment who may be affected thereby are not thereby exposed to risks to their health or safety.”

“In such cases as may be prescribed, it shall be the duty of every employer and every self-employed person, in the prescribed circumstances and in the prescribed manner, to give to persons (not being employees) who may be affected by the way in which he conducts his undertaking the prescribed information about such aspects of the way in which he conducts his undertaking as might affect their health and safety.”

A “self-employed person” is defined as an individual who works for gain or reward or otherwise than under a contract of employment, whether or not he employs himself. Illogan Parish Council has contracts for the provision of services and should ensure that they (i) do not expose contractors to risks to their health and safety and (ii) such contractors do not expose non-employees (e.g. visitors/public) to risks to their health and safety. Illogan Parish Council should ensure that all their independent contractors are competent to undertake the work and request that they have public liability insurance cover.

Duty of Employees

Section 7 of the Act states that it shall be the duty of every employee while at work:

- i. To take reasonable care for the health and safety of himself and of other persons who may be affected by his acts or omissions at work;

- ii. Take responsibility for health and safety at work, report or recommend issues or improvements as they arise; and
- iii. As regards any duty or requirement imposed on his employer or any other person by or under any of the relevant statutory provisions, to co-operate with him so far as is necessary to enable that duty or requirement to be performed or complied with.
